LIQUID SUN

Liquid Sun.

The world prepares for three college students which derived from coast to coast of the United States. David Russell, a North Carolina resident and student at A&T, William Gaston, a southern California native and A&T student and Marcus Steward, a Colorado based freshman who now attends A&T. These three members make up the Hip Hop music group Liquid Sun.

The group has amassed an unprecedented amount of exposure based on their continuous drive to offer their sound to their peers. The live band feel and sound of their production has enabled them to be likened to artists such as 'The Pharcyde, Digable Planets and Arrested Development'. These aforementioned artists are all respected not only in the sound that they have delivered but in the impact they have created during their reign. Liquid Sun seems to be following suit based on the positive messages attached to their releases which still contains elements of fun through their performances. These are components that have dissipated within the genre of music they are expressing.

Even though they are determined musicians, they still adhere to the fact that school must come first. With tough decisions to be made between accepting viable bookings and finishing pertinent class reports, they struggle to maintain the balance between the two. The method they use seems to be working for them however and they plan on touring the states region by region to promote their single "We're together".

Using collective tuition finances the group has managed to find a house off campus for the three of them to build a small studio and have a place for rehearsals. They have also secured professional representation from a heartfelt music publicist which in turn gave them the momentum they needed to gain exposure. With a new publicist and new booking agent, the group plans to make "We're together" a household song amongst high school and young college students. With their up coming tour, "My Mic & Iphone", they plan on using their www.myspace.com/mymicandiphone profile to filter their digital download card sales which in turn will drive traffic to their growing artist site.

The music world has a tremendous stigma in the hip hop genre that it is a dying form of music. Liquid Sun plans to put a cease and desist on that method of conjecture and irrational thinking. "We plan to bring rap and Hip Hop full circle so it's enjoyable again", explains David (Vo) from Liquid Sun. His statement seems to be ringing true as fans flood their myspace profiles daily. This is the journey we will all support of the three man music group, Liquid Sun.
